PAPER - XI

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

Paper Code: MPOCC-11

Credits Awarded: 3

Course Rationale

The paper is a basic introduction to the process and methods of empirical research for advancing scientific knowledge in Political Science. An attempt is made to relate social science research methods to other courses in syllabus of Political Science. The criticisms of different methods and schools are included. The two seminal works of method for Political Sciences those of Karl Popper and Dennis Katz are also included along with other important aspects of research methods. There is a need to teach the method of data collection, sample survey, preparation of bibliography and questionnaire, writing of a report, dissertation and thesis.

Course Contents

1. Scientific Study: The Essence of a Research Project

PAPER - XIII
INDIA'S FOREIGN POLICY

Paper Code- MPOLCC-13

Grade Awarded: 7

Course Rationale

India's foreign policy reflects the philosophy of India as a sovereign democratic nation and the self image and role she assumes for herself in the global system. The focus of this paper is the historical perspective of the role of international commitments and conditions, which actually has shaped the country's foreign policy for the past five decades. Since it was Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru, who anchored these commitments and conditions and accordingly laid the foundation of India's foreign policy. Its role and India's conduct of external relations during the tenure of Prime Minister will be discussed as a backdrop to India's foreign policy during the Post Nehru era in the next session.

PAPER - I

INTERNATIONAL TRADE AND GLOBAL POLITICS

Paper Code-MPOLEC-1

Course/Subject: I

Course Rationale

For the first time in history, an international organization (WTO) with a mandate has been established to regulate international trade, whose membership covers more than 90% of the world trade. Its creation marked the biggest advance in international trade since the Second World War. It is forum for negotiations, bringing together developed and developing nations on a common platform. It is the only forum where the developing and least developed countries have a say in a complex world dominated by the Central States of America. The politics of new world relationship between the developed and developing world will be presented in a structured manner that will equip the students to go for further research in international political economy particularly on WTO related issues.

Course Contents

1. The origin of the World Trading System- Postwar Brettonwoods System, ITO's failure and the success of GATT - the US game, GATT's Operational Structure, GATT Trade Negotiation Rounds
2. Establishment of WTO- Politics behind the Structure and Functions of WTO- Accession Process, Customs-coordination making
3. Structural Adjustment Programme - Political and Economic, Scenario of third world and developing world
4. NGOs and Civil Society in International Political Economy
5. Institutional Structure of WTO, Future of Multilateral Trading System, the role of developing countries in global politics

RESOURCE SCARCITY AND ENVIRONMENTAL SECURITY

Paper Code-MPOLGE-2

Credits Allowed: 3

Course Rationale

The connection between the human beings and the environment is a critical one under the capitalist mode of production. The social theories that emerged as critics' responses to the production system were more often concentrating on the labour capital contradictions and the environmental issues were marginalised in a greater extent. The course aims to make the students understand how the changes in the production system change the relation between humanity and nature and the reasons in which environmentalism emerged as an independent ideology.

Course Contents

1. Scientific Revolution and Scientific View on Nature: Capitalism and its Change in the Interaction between Human beings and Nature and General Features
2. Emergence of Paradigms and its Impact on Natural Vegetation: The New Phase of Climate Change
3. Changing Concepts of Development and the Environment
4. The Politics of the North South Divide
